

EXPLORE TOGETHER FAQs

Q: When does Explore Together begin?

A: The next Explore Together cohort kicks off the week of March 18.

Q: How long does the cohort last?

A: This coach-led journey will last six weeks, concluding the week of April 22.

Q: What does a typical week entail?

A: We will post resources on a specific mission-related topic at the beginning of each week. After engaging with these materials, we encourage you to share your insights online and interact with fellow participants. Beyond these weekly resources, we'll host virtual gatherings every two weeks, offering a space to deepen our discussions and connect more personally about our learning experiences.

Q: When are the virtual meetups scheduled?

A: While the exact day may vary, virtual meetups typically occur on weekday evenings (Eastern Time) and last between 60 to 90 minutes.

Q: How much time will I need for the weekly resources?

A: Recognizing the busy lives of our participants, we've designed the weekly engagement to be meaningful yet manageable, aiming for an hour or less each week.

Q: What if I can't engage every week or attend a virtual meetup?

A: We hope you can join us weekly, but understand that might not always be possible. If you miss a week, no one is taking attendance or removing you from the cohort. We encourage open communication; if you anticipate regular absences, please inform us so we can connect with you individually to help you process what you are learning and benefit from the experience.
